WITH the declaration of World War II, the peace-loving nations of the world united behind a common purpose. That purpose was to put down the aggressor nations. As the efforts of man to destroy his fellows advanced into a warfare more savage and horrible than anything the civilized world has before imagined, the need became evident for a system that would not enable any country to propose another such conflict. Men began to realize that the use of force to obtain their desires would not preserve a state of peace. It was agreed, however, that there must be an alternative to the use of force. Force would have to be controlled and not abandoned.

Thus the world saw the long, earnest efforts of a few peace-loving, men bear fruit—the United Nations Organization.

The Atlantic Charter became its first accepted program. The beliefs stated in this charter are stirring. They gave hope and fighting spirit to the war-ravaged nations. This Charter proposed a better social order in which the individual and his desires and needs are taken into consideration, the preservation of human rights, freedom from fear, want, and freedom of religion and of information. With these principles shining before them these countries were able to survive every indignity and degradation.

Later, the recommendations proposed at Dumbarton Oaks for a General International Organization were as follows: "to maintain international peace and security; to develop friendly relations among nations; to achieve international cooperation in the solution of international economic and social problems; to afford a center for harmonizing the actions of the nations in reaching these common ends."

Thus the United Nations Organization states its general purposes simply and briefly; but the realization of these goals for all men is the greatest task ever undertaken by the civilized world working and planning together. It must succeed.

*T*o the United Nations Organization we dedicate this annual. No organization in the history of the human race has been founded with such great purposes to better the lives of the people of the world. We pay tribute to its great leaders, who with the faith of the people and the help of God, will in a large measure guide the world of the future.

Thus we, professing a passionate belief in freedom and peace for all people, dedicate this volume to the organization that is doing and will continue to do so much toward making the world a better place in which to live.

May this serve as a reminder of a great year in which a great vision became a reality.

Class Prophecy . . .

At last!! The hard years following World War II exist only in memory; and we find ourselves enjoying the prosperity of this atomic year of 1956, A. D. Ah, yes; the atomic age is all that it was prophesied to be! Visiting recently in the ever-expanding metropolis of New York, we chanced upon an insight into the lives of many Salem Academy graduates of the Class of '46.

The day was cold when we stepped out of our Atomic Stratocruiser at La Guardia Field; and who should we meet there but Dr. B. Blair, who had just whizzed in for an emergency case. She was being met, as usual, by her constant companion, Catherine Stewart, who is always on hand to drive her about in a green Buick. They graciously offered to drive us into the city, and told interesting tales of Professor Mary Norton King, Ph.D., at Wellesley. (We always knew she was smart!) They suggested that we attend the next performance of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra at Carnegie Hall, since Jean Sloan, with her golden harp, is now a prominent member of the group.

Upon entering the famed Waldorf Atomic Hotel, we found ourselves in the midst of a convention led by none other than Senator Jane Schubert, who, as all natives of Tennessee know, has been appointed Chairman of the United States Congressional Committee on the Revision and Restabilization of Atomic Regulatory Supervision. (And she's doing a very good job!).

Sara Jean Pierle, whose name we saw in lights on Broadway, came bouncing over to us as we dined in the Wedgewood Room. She told us that she is currently starring in John Carrol's new hit, "The Atom Boys Follies." With her was Louise Moore, who is here on a short vacation from her husband. She was down in the dumps today, however, because it was her tenth anniversary and she had just received a lovely present from Larry by Atomgraph!

On the way to the Stork Club some time later, we were held up by a traffic-blocker, Goldsby K. Swan, whose occupation is that of testing all the latest Ford cars. (This one was entirely made of glass.) She had just received a letter from Mary Caroline Baker, who is now managing Morris Service. It is rumored that no one can believe she was called "lione" by her class-mates. Also, she is trying to improve the already perfect egg-salad sandwich. Goldsby drove us the rest of the way to our destination; and upon entering into the glamorous settings, whom should we see but the famous Mary Anderson Akers, surrounded as usual by kneeling men and photographers. At the table next to ours we discovered Jonnie Priestly, now Mrs. Ralph Miller, and her husband, who lives in constant discomfort because she makes him wear at all times, gold suspenders, "with the new Atomic Stretch"! Dancing gracefully by was the renounced Powers cover-girl, Anne Lewallen, with her sailor fiancée.

Soon we had to leave for the Metropolitan, to hear a benefit performance starring Miss Betty Reeder, still the sensational soprano! We went backstage to congratulate her and ran into Louise Stacy. She invited us to attend the Bob Hope Show, on station A.T.O.M., where she helps out in the gag department. We were interested in her descriptions of the new television, much more effective than that widely used in the "40's"; this is aided by a special atom-lense.

When we accepted her invitation, we learned that appearing on the program were Baumann and James, the two adventuresses, who have now written five best-sellers. They were telling of their latest trip to the moon by Atom-Rocket. When we tried to greet them we found it impossible to wade through the surrounding group of publishers. In the next studio we discovered (accidentally) Erdmuth McCuiston, giving out with the old routine—"L. S.—M. F. T., L. S.—M. F. T.!" (Also she is still attempting to get the show to broadcast from Roaring Gap!).

Early the next morning we decided to acquire a new wardrobe; it was only natural, then, that we should choose to patronize Madam Evelyn (Beard)—who has become the second Hattie Carnegie of the age!

In the crystal settings of her famous shop, we spoke hurriedly with Nancy Bracken, who seemed to be trying in vain to convince Evelyn of the store's need for a couple of those beautiful orange-blossom posters with VISIT FLORIDA printed on them. (Yes—she's President of Ocala's Chamber of Commerce at present!)

As we entered the TOMA Beauty-Salon at noon, we met Gean Griggs—an old friend, whose correspondence Bureau (on the lonely-hearts type), is creating a nationwide sensation!

In the early afternoon we went to Madison Square Garden, now featuring such great sports champions as Mary Louise Spaugh, tops in the realms of tennis, who was appearing on behalf of vitamins A, T, O, and M, all new finds, except A. Mary Moore Horton (still the same old "Sponge") is still the star of the basketball team. This time it's the "Atomizers." "Sponge" had just received a letter from Kathleen Van Loan, still being called "Kitten", but now by the boys at Woodbury. She has proved to be a very good House Mother there!

Wanting to catch a glimpse of the Bronx Zoo, and realizing that it was almost closing time, we hurried through the gates; and perhaps this rushing accounts for the fact that we did not immediately recognize Mary Ruth Monger, who was just leaving with her children.

As we returned to the hotel, we saw just registering Joan Cox, a leader in the drive for a bridge connecting Salem Academy and Salem College. She had come north soliciting funds for the movement; and we were interested to learn from her that Polly Haywood is now a member of the Board of Trustees of the Academy.

Waiting for us at the desk was Adeline Williamson; were we distressed, to say the least, at the circles—to put it mildly—under her eyes. But then we learned it was only because hubby Tommy is away on business and can't get out of the habit of calling at 3:00 A.M.!

The next morning saw our reluctant departure from the metropolis—it had been a glorious outing; and this was made even better by the late arrival of Jill Olds, who had at last decided to take in the historical sights of Philadelphia!

As the train left Grand Central, it was shaken by a violent explosion. We were able to find out the cause of it only in the evening paper, in headlines describing some small error made by Pauline Gray and Sarah Shore, in the experiments for the giant laboratories of the TOMICA Chemistry Company! And so we see that the Class of '46 has made a very good showing of itself!

Last Will and Testament

State of North Carolina,
County of Forsyth,
City of Winston-Salem.

To Whom It May Concern:

We, the class of nineteen hundred forty-six, being supposedly of sound mind and body and realizing the uncertainty of this life, do hereby publish and declare this to be our last will and testament.

ARTICLE I

To the faculty we leave our appreciation for their helpful instruction and guidance.

ARTICLE II

To the coming Senior Class we leave our beloved privileges and honor study halls, hoping that they will mean as much to them as they have meant to us.

ARTICLE III

Mary Ruth (Murphy) Monger bequeaths her continual good humor to all of us who could use it.

Pauline Gray leaves her blue convertible to—no, she changed her mind.

Mary Akers wills her way with men to Betty Burton.

Louise Moore leaves her remarkable sun tan to Betty Stamey.

Evelyn Beard leaves her pigtails to Emily Boyd.

Jill Olds wills her "suthun" accent to Ellinor Robinson.

Sara Jeanne Pierle bequeaths her boogie-woogie movements to anyone who has the endurance.

Elizabeth Blair leaves her "flying" stomach to Lynn Davidson.

Ethel Baumann bequeaths her untimely giggles to Elsie Shaw in hopes that she can control them better.

Jean Sloan wills her angelic way with the harp to Lucy Harper.

Nancy Bracken leaves her art in telling tall tales to Nancy Hunt.

Mary Carolyn (Bone) Baker leaves her nickname to Mary Alice Longcrier.

Louise Stacy bequeaths her jokes to Lillian Johnstone.

Joan Cox wills her becoming bangs to Natalie Goodman.

Mary Norton King leaves her big business deals with the publishers to Fran Dalton.

Gean Griggs leaves her slow way of speaking to Currie.

Ann (Shippey) Lewallen bequeaths her hair decorations to Chastain.

Polly Haywood wills her big brown eyes to Julia Parker.

Adeline Williamson bequeaths her argumentative manner to Betty Read McIlwaine.

Eleanor James leaves her knack for writing poetry to Lynn Chapin.

Mary Louise Spaugh wills her dramatic ability to Martha Funk.

Mary Moore (Sponge) Horton leaves her famous nickname to anyone who thinks they can live up to it.

Erdmuth McCuiston wills her ele-funny drawings to Barbara Ramsay who can add them to her collection.

Kathleen Van Loan leaves her wit to Tappy Bruff.

Goldsby Swan bequeaths her Senior Class responsibilities to Alice Geitner.

Jonnie Priestly leaves her Gold team spirit to her sister Mary Lou.

Betty Reeder wills her singing ability to Nancy Bryan.

Jane Schubert leaves her hula skirt to Murdock.

Catherine Stewart wills her blushes to Anne English.

Sarah Shore leaves her punctuality to class to Marilyn McDonald.

ARTICLE IV

We hereunto set our signatures and affix the seal on this, the fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and forty-six.

Student Council

At stated intervals the student body elects a group from its own number. This group holds in it's the administration of student government and the upholding of dormitory life. In the same way the Security Council is responsible to the individual members of the General Assembly and make recommendations to the assembled body pertaining to important questions facing the world. In these two representative bodies repose our faith and trust.

CLASS POEM

ON A GREEN HILL

By Eleanor James

There on the green hill's very crest,
Doth majesty, beauty in quietness rest,
Strong in its spirit and great in this strength,
Sure as the bird that in springtime flight wingeth
To summer and north.

Oh, Salem, we see you there one last time now,
Wondering over and over just how
We can catch one last long and lingering view
That will carry with us that will last the days through
When we are not here.

And we shall remember you ever this way—
Standing just as we have seen you each day.
And ever we'll know the same soul-filling thrill
That rises at sight of the old daisy hill
Which now is your place!

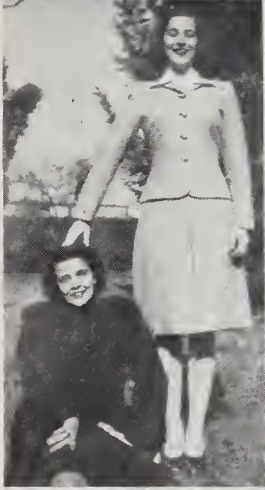

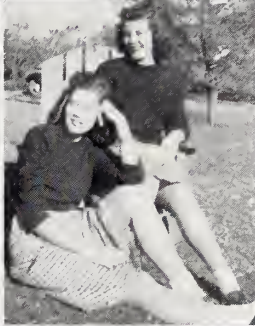

Red brick in the sunlight,
With vespers at twilight;
White loggia in splendor;
And friendships that render
Their love to thy girls.

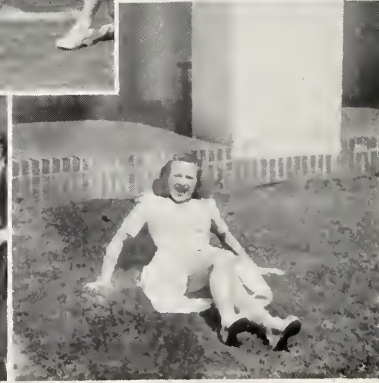

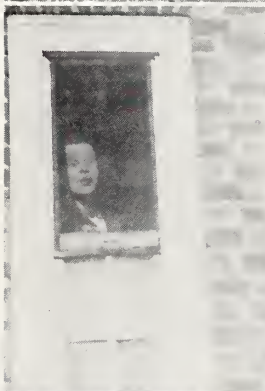

The tower—a symbol of long-living grace;
Strong endeavor and purpose cast into each face.
Wide terraces oft glimpsed through the tall waving trees—
Honor, integrity, calmness that sees
Through our lives ahead.

Oh, we've learned from you lessons of living each hour.
Each day has seen part of our young girlhood flower
Into the women that Salem has made—
Steady foundations that greatness has laid
For the future.

And now at the evening of this, our last day,
We stand here to know once again your fine way
Of giving anew to us character strong—
To gather our thoughts into memories long
And bright for tomorrow.

ALMA MATER

School of ages, still aspiring,
School of fame;
Mothers, daughters seek to honor
Thy great name;
Salem, may we true and loyal ever be;
Salem, may you hear our singing—
Love we're bringing all to thee.

School of ages, thy great spirit
Gives us power
To make free and joyous progress
Hour by hour
Honor, splendor, love and glory thine shall be;
Through our lives will shine thy blessing
Alma Mater, hail to thee.
